PUBLIC IDENTITY / POLARIS LOCKER

Polaris Locker

One public identity, built on the Polaris Key platform.

Polaris Key / Platform brand

Key retains its own brand, Pinned K, Star Cut, colours and service identities. This guide continues to document and celebrate that platform identity.

Polaris Locker / Public identity

Locker uses coral A2 Compact Bookends on public-facing product surfaces: marketing, docs, console, sign-in, downloads, communications and integrations.

How to apply this guide

Keep the original Key examples as references for the platform brand, capabilities and visual language. For public-facing deployment, apply Locker identity as described in this section.

A focused distinction

This section governs public naming where earlier pages show Key-branded public examples. It does not remove the Key brand, rename technical interfaces or replace the guide's service rules.

POLARIS LOCKER / BRAND ESSENTIALS

Same family. Clear roles.

The abridged Locker specification; use the full Locker guide for detailed applications.

Compact Bookends / A2

Two asymmetric bookends and one stationary four-point star. Preserve the three separate shapes, open gaps and original proportions.

Small sizes and spacing

24px minimum; dedicated 16px exception. Locker master at 24px+; preserve Key's optical cuts. Clear space: one quarter of visible glyph height.

Dark / #FF7869

Light / #C44438

Shared: Rubik 400 / 500 / 600, grounds #060912 / #F6F8FF, flat artwork and a stationary four-point star motif. Use each brand's approved drawing. Locker has no signing bit. Primary targets: 44px; prefixes: regular 400.

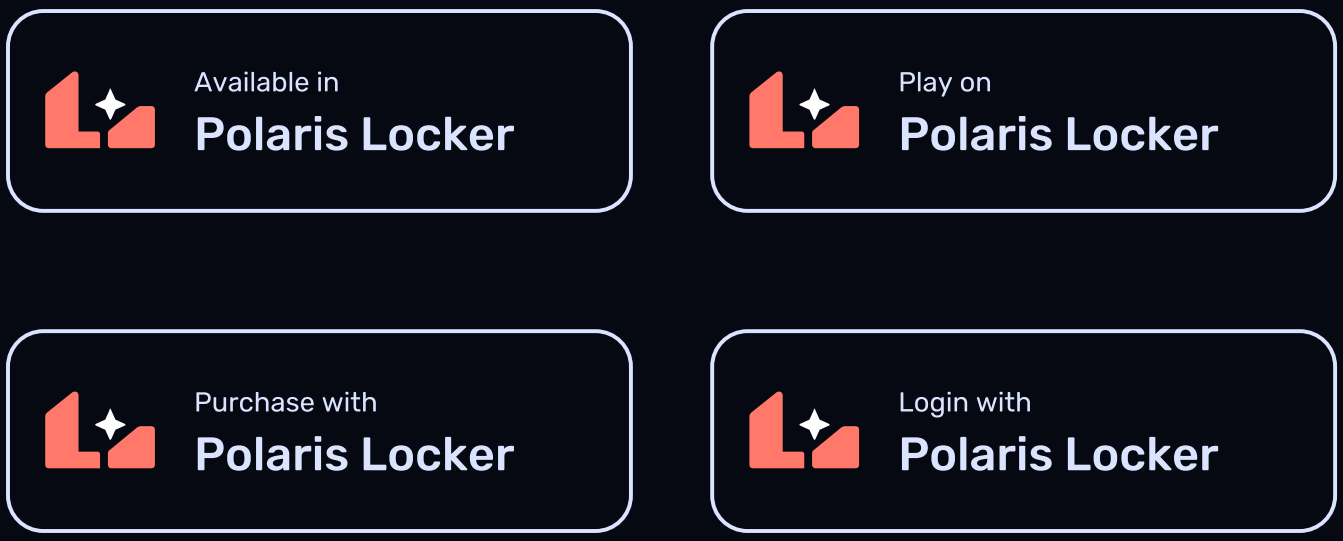

Same capabilities. Shared foundations.

Locker's coral shell retains Key's service names, symbols and accent mappings. Body, muted text, raised surfaces and control boundaries share the Key palette. Follow Key's motion and accessibility rules. See Locker pages 19-20 and tokens/polaris-family.tokens.json.
